Chapter 1- Pinyin- How to say it.

Below is an overview of pinyin- the system used to write down how Chinese words are pronounced. The following websites and links may help you to learn the pronunciation. But it isn't easy.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pinyin>

<http://www.learnchineseabc.com/chinese-pinyin-initials.htm>

The following will hopefully help you not mangle the language too much!

B: like in bag	a: like in far	iong: like in o + wrong
P: like in pack	o: like in awe	ua: like in water
M: like in mark	e: like in mother	uo: like in wall
F: like in far	I: like in bee	uai: like in wi fi
D: like in dark	u: like in nude	uan: like in one
T: like in tally	: like in loo	un: like in fun
N: like in navy	er: like in are	uang: like in o+ sung
L: like in lad	ai: like in I	e: like in loo + mother
G: like in gap	ei: like in eight	an: like in loo + man
K: like in karma	ao: like in ow!	n: like in loo + n
H: like in happy	ou: like in over
J: like in jeans	an: like in man
Q: likes in cheap	en: like in then
X: like sh in share	ang: like in angle
Zh: like 'j' in Japan	eng: like in sung
Ch: like in cheese	ong: like in wrong
Sh: like in ship	ia: like in Asia
R: like 'r' in leisure	ie: like in air
Z: like 'ds' in reads	iao: like in yell
C: like 'ts' in cats	iu: like in ill
S: like in Sam	ian: like in Ian
Y: like in yes	in: like in pin
W: like in water	ing: like in ping

My suggestion would be, when convenient, to simply point to the phrase in this book than trying to speak too much!

In Chinese there are also four tones they change the meaning of the word- in this book however I'm not going to bother you too much with the tones, from the context hopefully people will work out what you are saying and vice-verse. However with time, and some interaction you should find you will get an ear for these tones. Listen to see how the locals say it.

Chapter 2- Basic Communications

Informally, if we meet a friend on the street, we normally say: “Hi, have you had your meal?” or “Where are you going?” The questions are just a greeting. It doesn't mean they are inviting you to dinner or really care where you are going. When it is the case of two gentlemen, they often will shake hands.

In Chinese families, we rarely say “Thank you” to other family members or close friends for help or some service. But don't take this in a wrong way and think Chinese people are not friendly to each other in the same way as Westerners. People will think you are treating him or her as a stranger, and seem to lack intimacy if you use thank you too much in Chinese culture.

Chapter 4 - Numbers

This can be quite complicated, but let me try to explain.

One yi 一	eleven shiyi 十一	one hundred yibai 一百
Two er 二	twelve shier 十二	one thousand yiqian 一千
Three san 三	thirteen shisan 十三	ten thousand yiwàn 一万
Four si 四	fourteen shisi 十四	one million yibaiwan 一百万
Five wu 五	fifteen shiwu 十五	Zero ling 零
Six liu 六	sixteen shiliu 十六	one half yiban 一半
Seven qi 七	seventeen shiqi 十七	one quarter yike 一颗
Eight ba 八	eighteen shiba 十八
Nine jiu 九	nineteen shijiu 十九
Ten shi 十	twenty ershi 二十

With numbers you can add above twenty by simply adding the tens number with the unit number.

So twenty five is ershi (twenty) and wu (five)

Twenty is simply two ten er (2) and shi (ten)

So twenty five is 2 10 5 er shi wu.

Thus 40 is si shi 4 and 10

One hundred is yi bai 一百

Two hundred is er bai 二百

Thousand is qian or 千

So five thousand is wu qian 五千

Ten thousand is wan 万

So 40,000 is si wan 四万

And 120 thousand would be shi er wan ( 10+2+10,000) 二十万

and lastly one million is yi bai wan 一百万 or (1+100+10,000) One lot of 100 10,000s!

丨	1
∩	10
ㄩ	100
⊥	1000
∟	10,000
ㄣ	100,000
⊕	1,000,000

Sometimes when we are talking about room numbers or telephone numbers we pronounce “one” (yi) as yao instead.

For two things as in a pair of things we say liang instead of er.

Numbers

Lucky numbers are based on Chinese words that sound similar to other Chinese words. The numbers 6, 8, and 9 are believed to have auspicious meanings because they sound similar to words that have positive meanings.

- The number 6 in Mandarin is pronounced the same as "liu" and it similar to "fluid" or "smooth" and is therefore considered good for business.

- The word for "eight" sounds similar to the word which means "prosper" or "wealth".
- The number 9 is a homophone of the word for "long lasting" and as such is often used in weddings.
- Number 4 is considered an unlucky number in Chinese because it is nearly homophonous to the word "death". In East Asia, some buildings do not have a 4th floor.

Measurement :

Kilo gongjin 公斤 ie 2 kilos liang gongjin

Pound jin 斤

Metre mi 米 ie 3 metres san mi

Kilometer gongli 公里

Foot yingli 英里

Liter sheng 升

Centimeter limi 厘米

millimeter haomi 毫米

minute fenzhong 分钟

second miao 秒

hour xiaoshi 小时

day tian 天

week xingqi 星期

month yue 月

year nian 年

dollar yuan/kuai 元、块

cent fen 分

ten cents mao or jiao 毛, 角

Chapter 5 - Colors and sizes

● Colors

Red

You may feel it's quite interesting that many Chinese love to wear red especially for weddings or birthdays of elderly people. While it stands for blood, bad luck or even disaster in Western countries. However, red symbolizes good fortune and joy in China. Red is found everywhere during the Chinese New Year and other holidays and family gatherings. A red envelope is a monetary gift which is given in Chinese society during holiday or special occasions. The red color of the packet symbolizes good luck. Red is strictly forbidden at funerals as it is a color of happiness.

Yellow/gold

Yellow, corresponding with earth, is considered the most beautiful color. Yellow was the color of Imperial China and is held as the symbolic color of the five legendary emperors of ancient China. In ancient china, ordinary people were not allowed to use the color but everyone has the right to use it now. Yellow often decorates royal palaces, altars and temples, and the color was used in the robes and attire of the emperors. Yellow also represents freedom from worldly cares and is thus esteemed in Buddhism. Monks' garments are yellow, as are elements of Buddhist temples. Yellow is also used as a color of mourning for Chinese Buddhists.

Black and white

Black and white is used to represent the unity of Yin and Yang. Ancient Chinese regarded black as the king of colors and honored black more than any other color. In modern China, black is used in daily clothing. Black may also be used during a funeral to symbolize the spirit's return to the heavens and people wear black ribbons on their arms.

White is also the color of mourning. Unlike the Western meanings of purity, chastity, holiness and cleanliness, white is associated with death and is used predominantly in funerals in Chinese culture. Ancient Chinese people wore white clothes and hats only when they mourned for the dead (Some places of China still follow this tradition).

Colors

Colors as adjectives are used in front of the noun with a “de” as a joining word between the adjective and noun.

So “red car” is hongse de che 红色的车

Red hongse 红色

Blue lanse 蓝色

Green lūse 绿色

Yellow huangse 黄色

White baise 白色

Black heise 黑色

Grey huise 灰色

Pink fenhongse 粉红色

Brown kafeise 咖啡色

Purple zese 紫色

Orange chengse 橙色

To say light (colour) you need to add the word 浅 qian in front of the word, to say dark you need to add 深 shen in front of the color.

Sizes

With the adjectives below you don't need to add “de”.

A big apple Yi ge da pingguo 一个大苹果

Big da 大

Small xiao 小

Medium zhong 中

Long chang 长

Short duan 短

Tall gao 高

High gao 高

Crossing the road in China can be a little more dangerous than back home, it is best to look both ways when crossing the road as bikes, motorbikes and cars may not give you right away like back in your own country. This may take a while to get used to. Motorbikes and bikes also have a tendency to be ridden on the footpath, its best to pay attention when you are walking as people don't always give pedestrians right of way.

Chapter 14-Eating

● Table manners

We use chopsticks or sometimes even grasp rice directly with our hands. The thin and long chopsticks cannot be used to cut food, so we usually use our teeth to act as knives sometimes. We hold our food, meat or vegetables, with the chopsticks, send them to our mouth to bite off a part of it and keep the other part of food on the chopsticks. That's the usual way we eat. We are also used to holding up our bowls near our mouth when having rice or soup. It is unfair that all these habits are considered rude in your eyes, please understand it's a different behavior and we use different tools to eat.

It is noted that we usually share all food in the middle of the table rather than on individual plates.

Interesting facts about chopsticks:

- Do not stick chopsticks vertically into your food when not using them, especially not into rice, as this will make Chinese people think of funerals. Only at funerals are chopsticks (or sticks of incense) stuck into the rice that is put onto the altar.
- Do not wave your chopsticks around in the air too much or play with them.
- Do not stab or skewer food with your chopsticks. Pick food up by exerting sufficient pressure with the chopsticks to grasp the food securely and move it to your mouth or bowl. It is considered bad form to drop food, so ensure it is gripped securely before taking it out of the bowl. Holding one's bowl close to the dish when serving oneself or close to the mouth when eating helps.
- To separate a piece of food into two pieces, exert controlled pressure on the chopsticks while moving them apart from each other. This needs much practice.
- Some consider it unhygienic to use the chopsticks that have been near (or in) one's mouth to pick food from the central dishes. Serving spoons or chopsticks can be provided, and in this case you will need to remember to alternate between using the serving chopsticks to move food to your bowl and your personal chopsticks for transferring the food to your mouth.

● Food

Some Chinese eat snakes, frogs, even rats or insects, especially for people in Guangdong province. Another thing is that we eat animal's necks, feet or even heads sometimes, especially for ducks and chickens. And when we cook meat, we usually do not take out the bone.
